68 spices · 8 Ghana-priority items

Every dried spice, seed, herb, and named chilli that appears across all 34 Fudi People blends — 68 unique items — pulled directly from each blend's ingredient list. Fresh produce, liquids, and plain sugar/salt were left out on purpose, since the point here is what needs sourcing as a dried spice. Reference-photo links are visual sanity checks only — always confirm the exact product and grade with the supplier directly.

Check with the Ghana supplier first
West/Central African specialty items, less likely to be stocked by a general spice wholesaler.

Grains of selim Ep.1 Yaji

West Africa/Ghana

Grains of paradise Ep.7 Mbongo Mix

West Africa

Calabash nutmeg Ep.4, Ep.7

West Africa

Uda Ep.4 Pepper Soup Spice

West Africa (possibly overlapping with grains of selim, see note above — worth clarifying with the supplier)

Njangsa Ep.7 Mbongo Mix

Central Africa (Cameroon)

Mbongo spice Ep.7 Mbongo Mix

Central Africa (Cameroon)

Korarima Ep.3 Niter Kibbeh

Horn of Africa (Ethiopia) — worth asking about, though it's East African rather than West African, in case a Ghana supplier's network still carries it

Bobimbi Ep.7 Mbongo Mix

Central Africa — the most obscure item on the whole list; no confirmed photo of the dried product was found (see table note), so this one especially needs an in-person or sample check with the supplier

All 68 spices

Ají limo / Habanero chilli

Ep.34 Leche de Tigre

Used fresh/finely-chopped in the original ceviche marinade rather than dried, but named as a specific chilli variety worth sourcing; habanero is the stated substitute.

Black cumin (kalonji / shah jeera)

Ep.18 Garam Masala

CSV flags: "hard to source outside specialist shops." Botanically this is shah jeera (Bunium persicum, reclassified as Elwendia persica) — worth confirming with the supplier that it's not true kalonji/nigella seed (a different plant, see Nigella seeds below), since vendors sometimes conflate the two names.

Chilli, dried (generic/unnamed variety)

Ep.1 Yaji, Ep.23 Gunpowder/Podi

No specific variety named in the source — whole dried red chillies.

Wikimedia CommonsFile:Dried Red Chili.jpg →

Chilli powder (generic)

Ep.19 Timur ko Chhop, Ep.25 Shichimi-Togarashi, Ep.31 Chimichurri, Ep.33 BBQ Rub

Generic ground chilli powder, not a named variety — kept separate from whole dried chillies above and from Kashmiri/gochugaru/etc. below, since it's a different SKU to buy.
